all together different

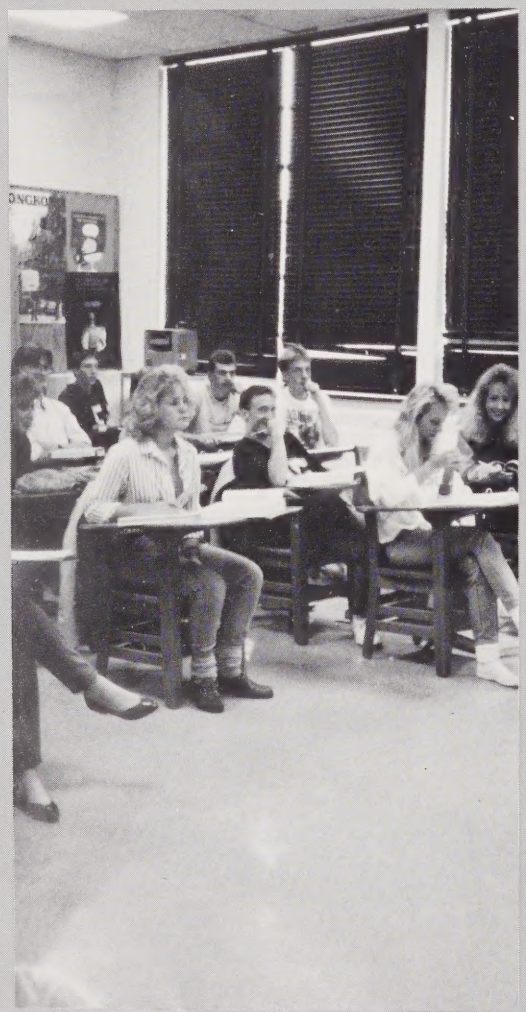
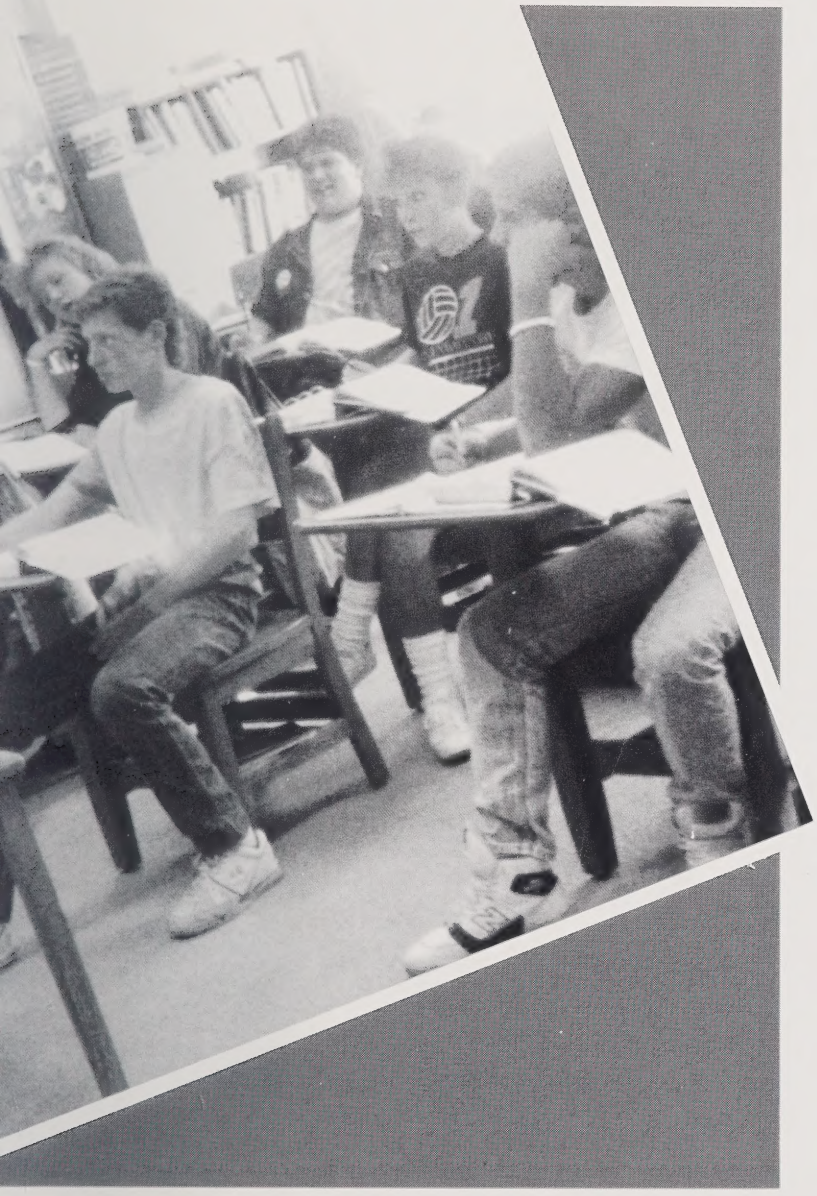
What's the symbol on the front of your shirt today, Mr. Parker? Mr. Parker forgot that he taught at Edneyville, too.



Coach Caldwell must be telling another extra funny joke. Come on guys, laugh.

All right get out your notebooks! There was never a quiet moment in this class.

Our differences make the difference



Looking cool is hard to do. Mr. T was always calm, cool, and collected.

Edneyville has always been a school different from the rest, and it has remained that way throughout the years. Because of the small size of the school and the closeness of the community, many life-long friendships have been developed during our school years. Most schools do not give you a chance to know your whole class, but here we've been given the opportunity. Even as we graduate and go our separate ways, there will always be a special bond which ties us together, and many of us will remain friends forever. This is why Edneyville is truly a school which is all together different.

School Daze

Edneyville students are all together different because we have our own special kind of schedule.

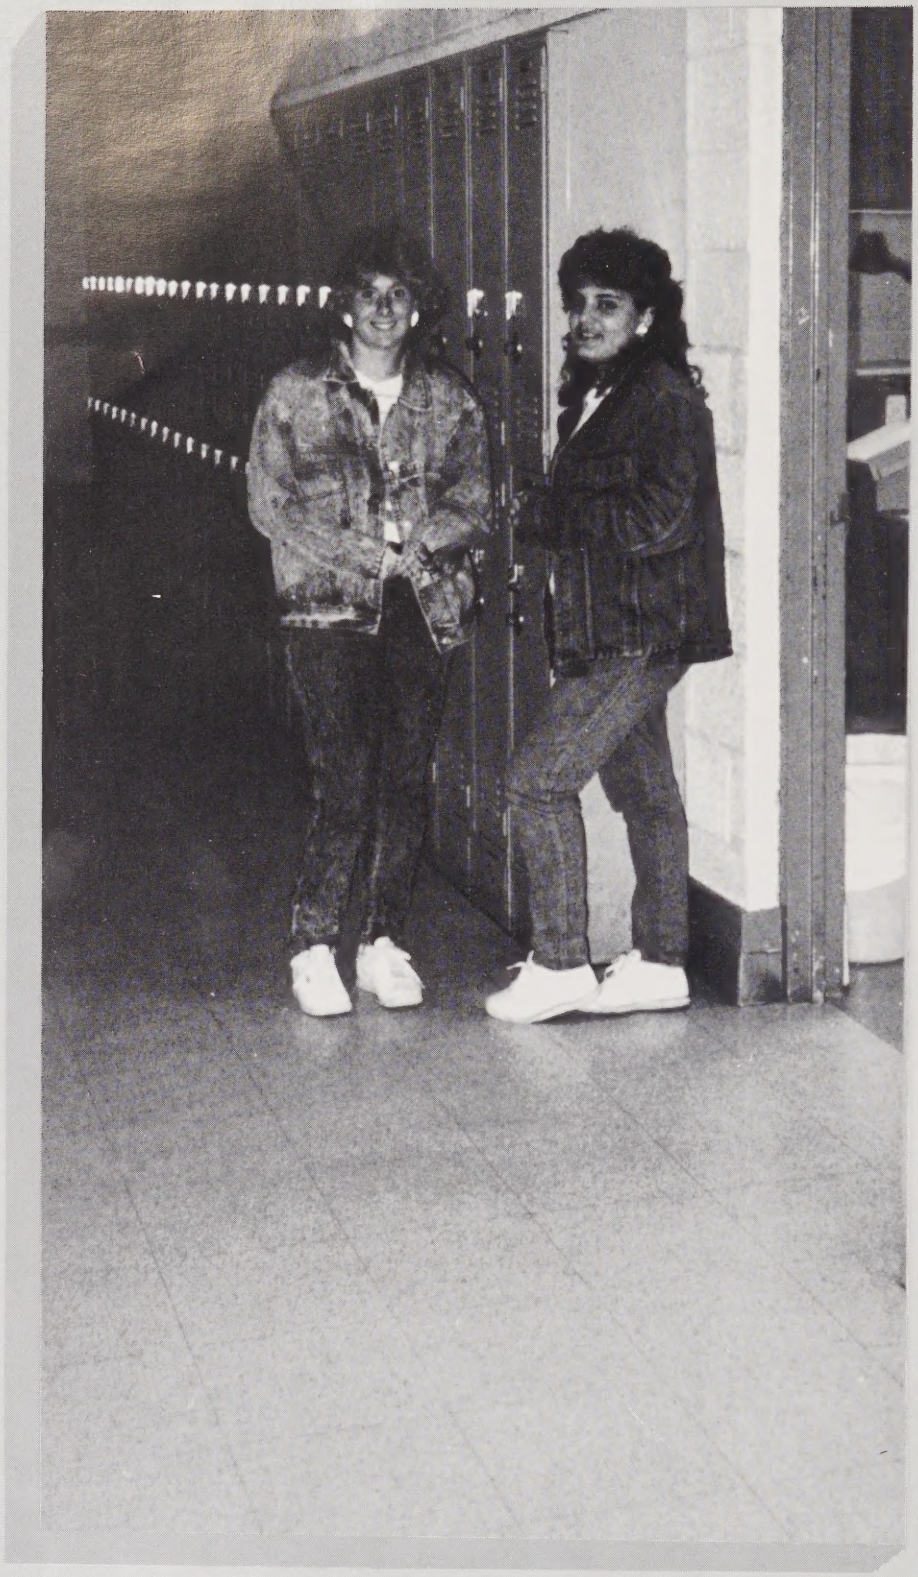
6:45 Alarm goes off, hit the snooze button three times
8:05 Speed down Hwy. 64 at a rate of 80 mph, unless delayed by a tractor going 5 mph
9:30 Just failed Mr. Henderson's exam
11:05 Rush to finish homework during homeroom
12:00 Stomach starts growling
12:30 Head for the lunchroom ready for battle as Eric and Burnie bombard us with French fries, chicken nuggets, and anything else within reach
1:30 Fall asleep in Mrs. Brookes' class while reviewing mush-mouth verbs
2:30 Countdown to final bell begins
3:15 Change for practice
3:30 Practice
5:30 Crawl to car and head for home

Sharon and Catherine enjoy a walk to class. Burnie meanwhile is in no hurry to get anywhere.

Roy arrives late for 1st period as usual. For many students arriving late is a chronic habit.

These students enjoy another nutritious lunch. Lunch was our favorite time to socialize.

These students look thrilled to be here. Not catching some z's are you?



student life

Striving to be

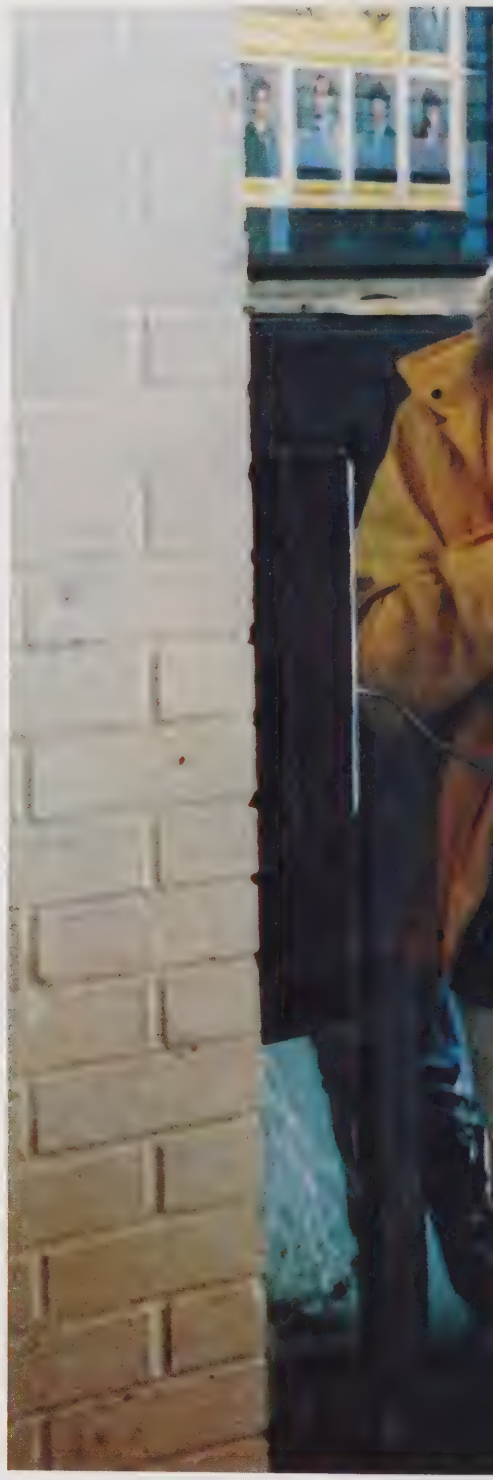
all together different

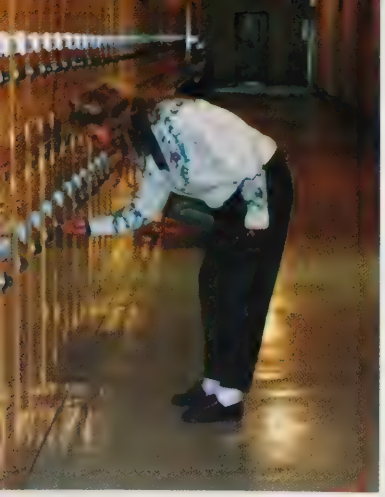
We laughed together, we cried together, we studied together, we worked together, and we played together.

We have found that Edneyville has been a good place for life-long friendships to develop. We have all lived in the same neighborhood and have grown-up together. We have all enjoyed the same activities, hobbies, and sports. We have all strived for the same moral values and standards. We have all strived to grow together, but at the same time we are all together different.

Show your Crest best. The 3:10 bell must be ready to ring.

Here comes "Dunkin Danny!" There goes "Dunkin Danny!"





I hate these bottom lockers. "Where's your hall pass."

If you think Hurricane Gilbert is bad, check us out.

Bridgett on the run. There goes peg leg.

What are you in the corner for this time? I ought to be in ISS more often.

Just 5 more minutes! Your three minutes are up.

Nightmare on Jacket Street

Homecoming was a thriller

Homecoming has always been a special event at Edneyville High School, and this year was no exception. It was a time for painting signs, decorating the halls, practicing class skits and holding the annual scavenger hunt.

Dress-up days included College Day, Twin Day, Tie-Hat-Shades Day, Rock and Roll Day, and Black and Gold Day. At half-time of the football game between Edneyville and Mountain Heritage Mandy Freeman was crowned Homecoming Queen. The week came to a close with a 23-20 victory over Mountain Heritage and a dance following the game.

Are you sure you want to mess with us? Just call us bad!!

Kim and Katherine were breaking loose on Rock n' Roll Day during Homecoming Week.

The real me is breaking through. We were jammin' out on Rock n' Roll Day.

How many times do we have to tell you, Tommy, don't play in your food! They told you to eat the pie, not wear it!

Don't you want to Rock n' Roll with me? This was the big question on Rock n' Roll Day.

The Juniors are a real drag! The Seniors pulled through a victory during Homecoming Week.

Mrs. Brookes and Mr. Burch, or is it Mrs. Burch and Mr. Brookes? Take your pick.

Going for the Gold

Spirit reigned high at EHS

Autumn came with the beauty of colorful leaves and the excitement of many activities. We found ourselves going for the GOLD and BLACK. Black and gold could be seen in the halls and classes. Pep rallies were held on some Friday afternoons so the 'Jackets could let their true spirit show. School spirit was higher than ever. Class competition was great; all classes were cheering with and against each other. As a student body we all wanted the same thing — we wanted our team to win. In spirit we were different, and in spirit we were all together.

Here come the Seniors. They're getting ready for their Senior Ride.

The cheerleaders are getting the students pepped up for the big game. It worked; we won 23 to 20.

The Seniors are #1. They won the Battle Cry!

Seniors are getting fired up! They cheered on the 'Jackets.

You ate it?? O.K., who burped!

Beat those Cougars! Sophomores were screaming hard!

Junior — Senior

"Honestly" was a memorable night for the Junior — Senior.

On the warm spring evening of May 14, 1988, the juniors, seniors, and their dates made their way to the Holiday Inn West in Asheville for THE PROM. "Honestly" was the theme for the 1988 prom. Colors of mauve pink, silver and black turned the room into a place of magic and music. Most people were unaware of the hard work the juniors had experienced in turning the evening into one to be remembered. Committees were formed, a band was engaged, decorations and refreshments were ordered, invitations were sent out, and the hall was decorated. The junior class worked hard and the prom was one that will long be remembered by EHS.

Two couples pause for a break. Dancing all night was hard work.

It's not "Dirty Dancing," but it will do.

The latest fashion in Prom dress was worn by David.

Burnie and Joy took a break to enjoy the band.

Allison and Gerald relaxed as the band played on.

We could have danced all night.

Melony and Heath enjoyed the pool side as they relaxed.

What's Hot . . . What's Not

"What will I wear today?"

How many times this year did you find yourself asking this question? We wore torn jeans, faded jeans, t-shirts, tyedyed shirts, un-tied Reeboks, shades, leather jackets, letterman jackets, big sweaters, tight sweaters, long skirts and short denim skirts. We even saw an occassional skirt and blouse, blazer or tie. Whatever the style, jeans and tennis shoes remained the favorite.

The tough decision about what to wear was paralled only by the equally tough decision of hairstyle. Hairstyles ranged from short to long, from curly to crew.

Blue jean jackets and rock n roll t-shirts are still the student's favorites. Bridgett sported the latest fashion.

Where do you buy your clothes? And by the way, who did your hair?

Lettermen jackets are always in. Caroline showed us the leather look.

Sharon, Murphy and Lisa show their fashion sense. Dress pants-blouses and sweater-jeans were a big part of our wardrobe.

Boys, if you had to come to school like this . . .

Miss Whispering Pines

Last Spring the annual Miss Whispering Pines' pageant was held before the Edneyville student body. Five girls from the sophomore, junior and senior classes competed for the title. Each girl was interviewed by a panel of judges on the evening before the pageant from a paper she had written. The day of the pageant the girls were judged on poise and talent. The pageant is sponsored by the Student Council and the Whispering Pines' staff. Miss Lorrie Harris was crowned the 1988-89 Miss Whispering Pines.

A Different Point of View

Weekends were used for Party time, rest and study

When the bell rang at 3:10, it was time for a different point of view. When the time arrived, we began to ask "What will we do?" "Where will we go?" Fridays were even better because the 3:10 bell ended the school week. Plans for the week-end were the talk of the day. Friday marked the beginning of two days full of leisure time, parties, ballgames, plenty of excitement, rest and study. We always came up with interesting things to do and places to go.

EHS plays a hard-fought game with East. David can't wait to get into the [illegible]

A long hike is always fun. Melanie and Jon enjoyed a week-end hike to World's Edge.

Only a mother could love a face like that. Jason could be unhappy with someone.

We could always find something to do when the weather was warm. LesLee and Fran head for the beach.

Junior High Homecoming

The Edneyville Junior High Student Council sponsored the 1988-89 Homecoming on Thursday, October 6. The theme was "Hands to Heaven." Miss Vanesa Gilbert, escorted by Shannon Davis, was crowned queen by 1987 Queen LesLee Dalton. Vanesa was chosen queen by the junior high student body. She is the daughter of Dwight and Sandra Gilbert. The crowning ceremony took place during the half-time of the Rosman game. A dance was held following the game.

It takes all kinds

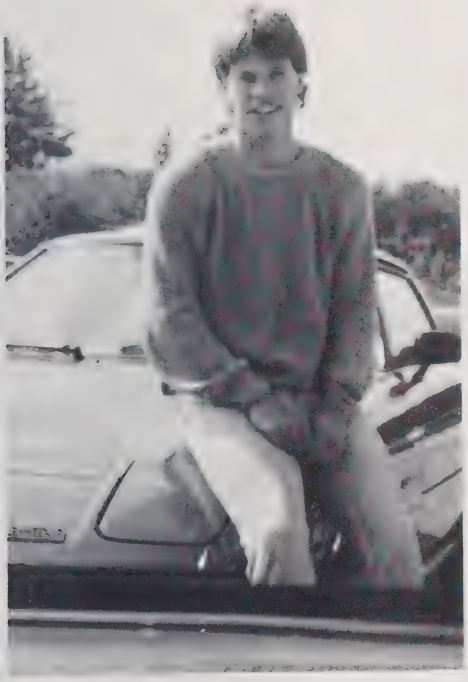
Self-expression or a means of transportation?

Getting your first "wheels" comes second only to getting your license to operate your first "set of wheels." Every morning we got up, got dressed and headed for school; or if it was a week-end, to work. For the lucky ones our transportation was our car, maybe a shiny, new sports car. For the less fortunate, it was the big, yellow school bus. No matter what we drove or rode in, that vehicle played an undeniable role in our lives.

Mandy and Beth are ready to ride. A Blazer was just the transportation for them.

Amy Gilbert arrives in style. She enjoyed getting there in her Dodge.

Kelley, is this your better side? Murphy's Hyundai provided a good means of transportation.



If I had a RX7, I would pose for a picture, too. We would all like to get there in style and look good too.

Chris takes his chances in parking between Mandy and Murphy. Good thing a Toyota is tough and endurable.

Randy is ready to roll. Sporty means different things to different people.

One step beyond

The day did not end at 3:10

When the 3:10 bell rang, some of us went home after a hectic school day. Those of us who didn't go straight home either played sports or worked a part-time job. Such places as McDonald's, Ingles, Burger King or the Mall were where most of the part-time jobs were available. Some of us worked because we wanted to, but most of us worked to buy things we needed. Whatever the job or the reason, we soon learned how to budget our time so we could work and also have fun.

Kathy is showing Debbie the latest style in shoes. She has all the latest knowledge in fashions.

Dwight helps Rodney and Greg with their shopping. Roses has helped Dwight with his marketing skills.

Peanut Shack is fun and tasty. Janice enjoyed helping customers with their selections.

K-Mart has all the current supplies for your car. Robert has become the local expert.

Alicia is handy at the check-out counter. Eckerds has kept her busy.

Yearbook Staff

The Whispering Pines Staff worked hard this year to bring the students of Edneyville the best possible yearbook. Writing copy, meeting deadlines, taking pictures, drawing layouts and checking final copy were only a few of the responsibilities of the annual staff. Of course, a few trips to Burger King only "helped spark" their creativity.

The staff worked closely with Herff-Jones and their representative, Sandra Smith. Joy Hoskin was editor and Nancy Edwards was sponsor.

Can you tell this picture was made at the first of the year before there were any deadlines? Dealing with all the pressure rarely left Joy in a good mood third period.

Burnie, are you really using Kathy's English book to study? Surprisingly enough that you were even in the room.

Joy and Mike consult each other on lay-out design. As usual they worked well together.

Kathy gives directions on design . . . so that is what a lay-out editor does.

Shelley relaxes after working hard. Her senior section was one of the first ones due.

"Can I go get an ad today? Really, Burger King does want to buy another one!"

Marching Band

The Edneyville High Marching Band had a great year in 1988-89. The 40+ member band featured the trumpet section in "Shinedown." The song "Frankenstein" featured a trio including an alto, trumpet, and trombone. The band was directed by drum major David McAmis. The band played during halftime of home football games and went to some away games to provide "pep" music for the fans.

The Jazz Band also had a great year. They played at the Blue Ridge Mall and also played at the home basketball games.

This Falcon did not get off the ground. A whole group of 'Jackets saw to that.

The pressure and tension were there every Friday night. Jason makes the right decision at the line.

"This was a season of almosts. Unfortunately, most of the close games ended in losses. I feel, though, that the team had other great qualities that made up for the losses. Sports have always been a tradition at Edneyville and this year's team added its unique talents to that tradition." - Coach Bonnett Waiting and rest were part of the game, too. Shannon waits anxiously for the refree to say, "Touchdown!"

Jason waits for Mike to get open.

Bobby picks up a crucial first down. Edneyville found the going against West mighty tough.

Winning was never easy, but was always in reach. Bobby leads the way for another victory.

"Success is not always measured by a record but by the payoff of new friends who have endured both the good and bad times together." - Coach Roper

F. Owenby, J. Roper, P. Stanley, B. Bonnett, R. Worley

I thought this year's team had a lot more togetherness than any other football team that I've been associated with. Even when we weren't winning, everybody stayed together. - John Mullis

This year was a learning experience for most of us, but the team just got a lot of bad breaks near the end of the year. - Roy King

This year the record didn't show all of the effort. The team played together and played to win. - David Heatherly

Jason side-steps a tackle during the West game.

Bobby falls on the goal line for that all important score.

Senior Captains J. Stanley, M. Reynolds, J. Harris, and D. Baldwin talk it over at center field.

Jeff, David, Scott and Mike are determined to get their man.

David brought down the runner during Homecoming.

The Jackets return to the huddle after a short gain against West.

Senior Image

For most seniors, the past eighteen years have been spent looking forward to the senior year, knowing that as seniors they could finally be independent. The major decision was what to do with the rest of their life. For the senior there is always the dreaded fear of not getting to graduate; but for most seniors, it is a picture of college applications, brochures, and transcripts or job resumes. As the end comes closer, the reality of graduation becomes more exciting. The spotlight was finally on the Class of 1989.

Painting the Rock

One of the most exciting aspects of being a senior was finally becoming a part of senior tradition.

"Other than more people getting painted than the rock, it's the first time you've seen everyone working together — maybe since the first grade." — Sharon Laughter

Senior Memories

As the seniors stop and reflect on their past school years, they find the past twelve years were filled with friends and fun times.

"I remember all of those hours spent at Chris Barnwell's house with my physics, chemistry and algebra classes trying to work Mr. Henderson's take-home tests." — Wendy Lyda

The many years were filled with times when friends would get together and pass the time with laughter and tears. All of these times are now called memories.

Senior-itis

All seniors have a common disorder called senior-itis. The chief dream of all seniors is to put on that cap and gown and walk down that isle for the last time. Until that night came, all senior seemed to experience such symptoms as forgetting to go to class, a sudden dentist appointment, calling from the lake on a sunny day or even a sudden trip into town for "annual."

"It's when you know you should come to school but don't. Whenever you get where you're going, you know you should be somewhere else." — Norris Lyda

"It never hit me until by half way through assembly program the first morning this year. It was pride." — Gerald Lyda

The only known cure for senior-itis would not be discovered until May 31st.

Juniors

The junior year brought new challenges and new responsibilities for the students. As the year started, the juniors showed off their class rings as a symbol of their new status. Taking the college entrance exam was just the beginning of the long process in selecting a school to be attended in the all too near future. Classes became more challenging and new interest and excitement was added with 1988 being an election year. The junior year also marked the planning of the Junior-Senior which turned out to be a big success.

That couldn't be your natural attire. The Brothers Four (Undray and Sheddrick Hill and Greg and Steve Holbert) decked out for Rock n' Roll Day.

Greg and Coach King pause for a moments chat. Juniors often looked to their teachers for support.

A job that is not so easy for the Junior Class treasurer is collecting dues and candy money. Michelle's hard efforts showed when it came Junior-Senior time.

"The big night is here." The juniors, seniors and their dates danced and enjoyed themselves.

Mr. Caldwell, don't take defeat so hard. Tonya, Amy, Paula and Vonda consoled Mr. Caldwell after his homeroom lost the candy sale to Ms. Edwards' homeroom.

Homeroom is important to all Juniors. Plans were made for Homecoming, Junior-Senior, Candy Sale and other important things to Juniors during homeroom.

Social life is important to everyone — especially juniors. Amy recieved flowers from that "special someone."

"Personal contact! Who me??"

Lunch is the perfect time to relax. Michelle, Natalie and Tammy enjoyed visiting with the seniors.

Stephanie and Teresa seem to be in no hurry. Usually the halls were a dangerous place to be between classes.

My program doesn't work! Janice and her computer seem to be having a disagreement.

Aaron, what did you tell Mr. Anderson? There was never a dull or quiet moment during lunch.

The Best of Everything . . .

On graduation day
we'll go away
But friends forever
we hope to stay

With tears of joy
and sadness too
We'll always remember
each one of you

It's sad to leave
but we must go
But just remember
we'll miss you so

We've shared so much
our plans and schemes
Our joys and sorrows
our hopes and dreams

The time has come
it's as its ends
We hate to leave
such faithful friends

There's so many things
I want to say
But words won't come on this final day

With a lump in our throat
and a heavy heart
It's time to leave,
for us to part

It's not goodbye
that we'll say
We'll see each other again someday!

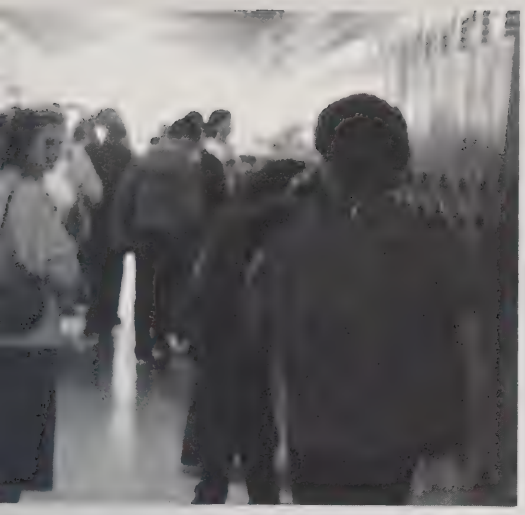
— Candi Byrum



The Trying Times

When times get tough and you think of quitting
Shut your eyes and sour.

When your tears have stopped falling but it's only began to hurt
Tap your wounds with love,
shut your eyes and dream.

When the loneliness comes, open your heart and let the love of one who cares take over.

If ever you feel alone, as if you're the only one with thoughts of yourself — Think of me and I shall be there for I am thinking of you always.

— Chris Corbett

Seniors

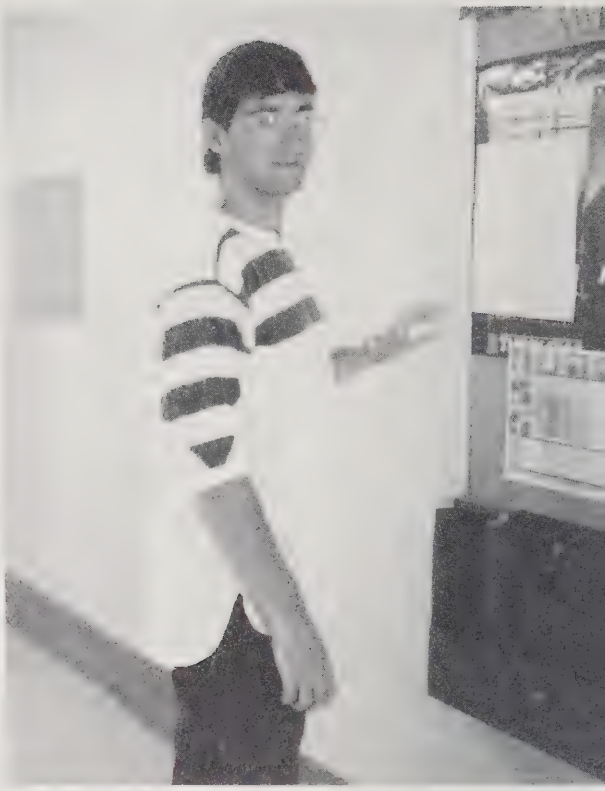
Our final year together
Seniors at last
It seems like forever
Soon it will pass

Only yesterday
We were six years old
Now today
Goodbyes are told

Some will depart
And some will remain
With in the heart
Will be much pain

Friends in touch
And some far away
It means so much
To know each day

With many a tear
Shone in the eye
The time is here
We say goodbye



Friends

Among all of us
we are the best of friends
There's a lot of fuss
on where it ends

But, because of the love of friendship we share
We will always be friends that care

When we depart
our friendship goes on Cause in our heart
we know it's not gone

Our friendship will last among good friends
Cause in present and past
it never ends.

— Candi Byrum
